

Salem Montessori School, located in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, is accepting applications for a Montessori Certified Upper Elementary Teacher. For almost twenty-five years, Salem Montessori School has provided a joyful and engaging Montessori educational environment for children and their families.

Interested applicants should contact Patrick Velde, Head of School, at p.velde@salem-montessori.org.

Description: Salem Montessori School seeks a dynamic Upper Elementary Lead to join our school for the 2024-2025 school year. The Upper Elementary lead is tasked with all classroom responsibilities, including lesson presentations, record keeping, communication with parents, and administrative duties pertinent to your class. Ideal candidates are innovative, flexible and have a strong understanding of Montessori pedagogy.

About Salem Montessori: Advancing Dr. Montessori's vision is the heart of Salem Montessori School's mission. Our Montessori trained administrative team and dedicated teachers create an environment that aligns with the Montessori pedagogy and a school culture that is supportive, inclusive and joyful. Salem Montessori School teachers work collaboratively to nurture and inspire our children. All of our teachers attend regularly scheduled meetings and school events.

Salem Montessori School began almost 25 years ago when founder Julie Smith wanted to create a Montessori learning environment for her children in partnership with other interested parents. From humble beginnings in Julie's home basement in 1998, to church buildings, and a children's museum in between, Salem Montessori School opened a new, purpose built space in the fall of 2023. From one classroom, Salem Montessori School has grown to offer three toddler classrooms, two children's house classrooms, a kindergarten classroom and two lower elementary classrooms. We now seek the right person to lead our Upper Elementary class.
